

BULLETIN
OF THE

American Schools of Oriental Research

Number 355

August 2009

ARTICLES

- DANI NADEL, DANNY ROSENBERG, and REUVEN YESHURUN: The Deep and the Shallow: The Role of Natufian Bedrock Features at Rosh Zin, Central Negev, Israel . . . . . 1–29
- KEVIN GIBBS, SEJI KADOWAKI, ADAM ALLENTUCK, and E. B. BANNING: Early Bronze I Occupation at al-Basafîn, in Wadi Ziqlab, Northern Jordan. . . . . 31–50
- KAMAL BADRESHANY and HERMANN GENZ: Pottery Production on the Northern Lebanese Coast during the Early Bronze Age II–III: The Petrographic Analysis of the Ceramics from Tell Fadous-Kfarabida. . . . . 51–83
- EYAL REGEV: Access Analysis of Khirbet Qumran: Reading Spatial Organization and Social Boundaries . . . . . 85–99

BOOK REVIEWS

- JÖRG BECKER: Nevalı Çori: Keramik und Kleinfunde der Halaf- und Frühbronzezeit (Jak Yakar) . . . . . 101–104
- R. S. BADALYAN and P. S. AVETISYAN: Bronze and Early Iron Age Archaeological Sites in Armenia, Volume 1: Mt. Aragats and Its Surrounding Region (Mitchell S. Rothman) . . . . . 104–106
- AARON A. BURKE: “Walled up to Heaven”: The Evolution of Middle Bronze Age Fortification Strategies in the Levant (Aren M. Maeir) . . . . . 106–108
- DAVID T. SUGIMOTO: Female Figurines with a Disk from the Southern Levant and the Formation of Monotheism (Susan Ackerman) . . . . . 108–110
- MIRIAM AVISSAR: Tel Yoqne‘am: Excavations on the Acropolis (Katherine Strange Burke). . . . . 110–112