Preliminary Matters (8:30-8:40)

1. Call to Order and Introductions
2. Remembering P. E. MacAllister (Andy Vaughn, Eric Meyers, Joe Seger)
 - The Board took some time to remember and honor the contributions of P.E. MacAllister to ASOR, among other things.
 - Andy noted that P.E. helped ASOR thrive, not just survive. He trusted the younger generation to decide the future of ASOR. He was supportive of Andy, and gave frank and helpful counsel over the years; we were in his thoughts over the past couple of years.
 - Eric knew him more than 40 years. PE was one of the anchors of ASOR, especially when ASOR was struggling. Eric then read some words that he had written and that were delivered at P.E.'s funeral, at the request of his family. (See Appendix A.)

- As a way of honoring the historical soliloquies with which P.E. used to end the Board meetings, Joe read one of his own. (See Appendix B.)
- The Board held a moment of silence in honor of P.E. MacAllister.

Approved unanimously.

10. Editor Appointment (Susan Ackerman)

- Susan brought forth one recommendation, explaining that the search process is underway for the editor(s) who will replace BASOR editors Eric Cline and Chris Rollston, but that an extension to their appointment will allow for a suitable overlap to ensure a smooth transition.

10a. Eric H. Cline and Christopher H. Rollston, for a six-month extension as the co-editors of BASOR (July 1, 2020- December 31, 2020).

- Sheila Bishop moved, Carol Meyers seconded.

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board extends the appointment of Eric H. Cline and Christopher H. Rollston, for six months as the co-editors of BASOR (July 1, 2020- December 31, 2020).

Approved unanimously.

11. Treasurer's Report (Heather McKee)

- Heather noted the state of ASOR's finances are strong. This is good news, particularly considering the number of transitions ASOR has faced over the past year.
- Heather reviewed details of her report, commending ASOR donors for their generosity, allowing ASOR to pay off a $325,000 line of credit sooner than expected.
- We transferred the management of our endowment for operations to Scott & Stringfellow, an affiliate with at BB&T. The Finance Committee is monitoring their performance and market returns to ensure that it is working to ASOR's benefit.

- We are currently within $35,000 of reaching our goal for a challenge gift that will provide a 2:1 match. All of these gifts will enable a quasi-endowment for the ongoing support and maintenance of the James Strange Center.
- The audit contains a number of regulatory changes in presentation. Notably, Permanently Restricted Accounts (a.k.a “endowments”) and Temporarily Restricted Accounts are now combined under one category, “Net Asset With Donor Restrictions”.

11a. Review and approve FY 2019 audited financial statements

- Heather noted the audit reflects some of the positive outcomes, and ASOR has received a clean opinion.
- Heather noted the audit breaks down spending in categories, so Board members can see the cost of the Annual Meeting year by year, and align with location. This break-down was previously included in additional materials prepared by ASOR (and reviewed by the auditors), but this section is now part of our audited financials under the direct review of the auditors.
- Heather also encouraged Board members to read the notes section, which provides important and valuable details.
- Carolyn Strange thanked Heather for her service.

Øystein LaBianca moved.

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board accepts the recommendation of the Finance Committee to approve the FY 2019 Audited Financial Statement, received and accepted by the Executive Committee.

Approved unanimously.

11b. Creation of permanently restricted funds for the Lawrence T. Geraty Community Archaeology Endowment

- Øystein LaBianca explained this fund has been set up to be administered through ASOR to incubate ways for local communities to stay involved with archaeological projects in their areas.
- For the first five years money from the fund will be used for the Madaba Plains Project, after that it may extend to other projects in Jordan (MPP will not be excluded from applying).
- Andy thanked Øystein for his resolve and commitment for getting this established.

Joe Seger moved:

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board accepts the recommendation of the Finance Committee to create permanently restricted funds for the Lawrence T. Geraty Community Archaeology Endowment.

Approved unanimously.

11c. Amended Investment and Spending Policy

Carolyn Strange moved:

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board accepts the recommendation of the Finance Committee to amend the Investment and Spending Policy to include language about the Lawrence T. Geraty Community Archaeology Endowment.

Approved unanimously.

12. ASOR By-Laws Emendations (Richard Coffman, Susan Ackerman)

- Susan reported that in April the Board approved a substantive rewrite of ASOR's by-laws. Having completed that project, Susan reported on the need for three additional emendations:
 - The Executive Director should be a non-voting member of the Board and the Executive Committee, and so it is necessary to add language that will include the Executive Director as an ex officio non-voting member of the Board of Trustees and the Executive Committee.
 - With the purchase of the Strange Center, there is a need for a new standing committee, a Facilities Committee that can provide oversight and guidance for making large scale decisions on the Strange Center.
 - Fix the numbering so that the bylaws still flow.

Sheila Bishop moved, Øystein LaBianca seconded.

- BE IT RESOLVED: The Board accepts three additional emendations to the ASOR by-laws: 1) adding the Executive Director as an ex officio member of the Executive Committee and the Board of Trustees; 2) establishing a standing committee, a Facilities Committee; and 3) fixing the numbering within the by-laws.

Approved unanimously.

Reports (9:30-10:10)

Note: the reports were presented out of order to accommodate guests

15. CAORC (Rick Spees)
 - Rick noted that it is wonderful to have ASOR in Alexandria.
 - that in spite of lack of presidential support for our programs, Congress has been very supportive and he is optimistic that the CAORC budget will not change from last year. He notes the Department of State supports what CAORC does.

13. ASOR's Publishing Partnership with University of Chicago Press (Kari Roane, University of Chicago Press)
 - Kari provided an extensive report that highlighted “markers of health” for NEA, BASOR and JCS.
 - Markers include circulation, online usage and citations, among others.
 - Kari is hoping that the citation service Clarivate will be willing to create an index for Archaeology journals.
 - Kari’s report also included details about marketing strategies for ASOR journals.
 - Andy noted that Kari is wonderful to work with, and UCP has exceeded his expectations.
 - Sten thanked Andy for his leadership.

14. Chairs Coordinating Council Report (Sharon Herbert)
 - Sharon noted new chairs for four standing committees:
 - Teddy Burgh (Committee on Membership and Outreach)
 - Jane DeRose Evans (Cultural Heritage Committee, pending)
 - Lynn Welton (Honors and Awards)
 - Allison Thomason (Co-Chair, Program Committee)
 - Also: Chuck Jones (new chair of the CCC)
 - Sharon provided updates on several of the committees, summarized briefly here:
 - Program Committee: 498 papers were given in San Diego, and 940 attendees at the conference. Sharon noted a poster on ASOR’s carbon footprint might lead to an optional fee to raise money for organizations that offset carbon footprints.
 - Committee on Membership and Outreach: The focus this year is bringing lapsed members back into ASOR. There are 15,000 Friends of ASOR, which is a great outreach mechanism but needs to be more strategically deployed.

- Honors and Awards Committee: As chair, Laura Mazow has done an excellent job leading the committee. Future work includes simplifying the nomination process and changing the language to address needs of a diverse population.
- Early Career Scholars: The top priority of this group is networking at the Annual Meeting, and the bar crawl has been replaced with a very successful (if more expensive) reception. Mentoring sessions are being prepared for next year's meeting
- Committee on Publications: The transition to UCP has been successful, and the committee is currently reviewing candidates to be the BASOR editor(s).
- Committee on Archaeological Research and Policy: Currently there are 85 projects under CAP, and it has transformed from a policing committee that supports professionalism in field archaeology
- Sharon noted three topics currently under discussion by the CCC:
 - Whether to change ASOR's name.
 - The language in ASOR's Policy on Professional Conduct that defines occupied or contested territories.
 - Code of Conduct for the Annual meeting. Could be amended. The CCC agrees it is a good thing to have in place, and came out with no firm recommendation for improvements.
- Chuck Jones commended ASOR leadership (Tim Harrison, Susan Ackerman and Sharon Herbert) for organizational changes that established CCC, noting much better communication and a greater awareness of the issues.

16. ACOR (Øystein LaBianca and/or Barbara Porter)

- Barbara Porter will be stepping down as Director of ACOR in the spring, to be replaced by Dr. Pearce Paul Creasman.
- Sten notes that Barbara has done an enormous amount of work for ACOR and Jordan, and is one of ACOR's living legacies.

17. CAARI (Bryan Wilkins and/or Lindy Crewe)

- CAARI has been quite busy over the past year, celebrating its 40th anniversary. CAARI also hosted a Levantine Ceramics Project workshop, and is working hard towards getting final permits to get the building listed.

18. AIAR (J. P. Dessel and/or Matthew Adams)

- Matt has been doing an exceptional job, he will be stepping down in June of 2022.
- Next year, AIAR will be initiating a capital campaign in honor of the 100th year of the building.

Other Business (10:10-10:15)

19. Memorial Moments (Susan Ackerman) (see Appendix C)

20. Other Business

Break (10:15-10:30)

Discussion/Action Items (10:30-12:20)

21. Location of the ASOR Annual Meeting for 2021, 2022, 2023 (Susan Ackerman, Andy Vaughn)

- Andy provided some background to the discussion: The Board voted in April 2019 that ASOR would continue to meet Wed to Sat, and ideally at the same city in SBL, except in years when that would be economically and logistically impossible.
- For convenience, the text of that resolution is reprinted here:
 - BE IT RESOLVED: The Board recommends a flexible model in which ASOR will make all reasonable efforts to meet in its current time frame (Wednesday to Saturday pattern) in the same city as SBL. In years in which it is not reasonable and economically feasible, ASOR will conduct its meeting in a city that best serves the greatest number of its constituencies. (approved unanimously by the ASOR Board, April 6, 2019)
- Meeting with SBL has proven to be unfeasible for 2021 (San Antonio/no space), 2022 (Denver/space only at Marriott Tech Park which was unpopular with ASOR members at the 2018 meeting), and 2023 (San Antonio/no space).
- Andy and Arlene have been exploring other cities that can provide space for ASOR during those years while meeting the priorities of ASOR's constituencies. These cities are New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Washington DC, Baltimore, Atlanta and Boston.
- Discussion ensued about the value of sticking with Denver in 2022, when there is space on the outskirts of the city, even if it is not a popular meeting place for many ASOR members.
- Discussion also revolved around the number of people impacted when ASOR separates from SBL, versus the number of people who choose not to attend a meeting when it's in a less than ideal location (such as the Denver Marriott Tech Park)
- Discussion also included the negative optics of separating from SBL for three years in a row.

- Richard noted that alternative cities for 2021 and 2023 (San Antonio) were highly likely because of the lack of availability in San Antonio
- Several motions were put forth and then withdrawn after discussion. The Board ultimately voted on the following:
 - Lynn Swartz Dodd moved, Ann Sahlman seconded:

BE IT RESOLVED: 1. We empower the Executive Director to find alternative locations without SBL for the next three years (2020, 2021, and 2022); and 2. We take a strong stand to devise real and legitimate strategies towards outreach to those who are on the list of 15% who will choose to attend SBL instead of ASOR, adopting some kind outreach and communication to those who might feel disenfranchised.

13 in favor; 7 opposed; 1 abstention

22. Committee for the ASOR Policy on Professional Conduct (Tim Harrison)

- Tim circulated copies of ASOR's current Policy on Professional Conduct, in which the term "occupied territory" is defined using the US Department of State definition.
- Recently there have been consultations amongst various committees. The wish is to maintain the intent of the code, but adjust the definition of occupied territories.
- Option 1: list the occupied territories by name
- Option 2: change the language of "US Department of State" to "Customary international law"

- Joe Seger moved:

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board accepts the recommendation of the Committee on the Policy on Professional Conduct to change the language of the current Policy on Professional Conduct regarding reference to occupied territories from "US Department of State" to "customary International Law".

Approved unanimously.

23. Code of Conduct: ASOR Annual Meeting and Other ASOR Sponsored Events (Susan Ackerman, Emily Bonney)

- Susan formed an ad hoc committee chaired by Emily Bonney to produce a code of conduct policy for the Annual Meeting.
- The policy was passed provisionally by the Executive Committee in a conference call prior to the November meeting and pending feedback from members.
- Emily noted that the drafted produced by the ad hoc committee was unanimously supported by the committee, with the exception of the part about enforcement. The committee sought the advice of the Board in determining those aspects of the code. It is important that the code is clear.
- Emily wrote a draft the committee compared it with other codes of conduct. In general agreement with just about everything except the enforcement piece.
- Richard noted that Arnold and Porter and reviewing the policy to provide legal feedback.
- Erin Darby suggested such a policy could be adapted for social media

24. The 2018 Member-Organized Session on ASOR's Name, Follow-Up (Susan Ackerman, Sharon Herbert)

- Susan noted that the member organized session on ASOR's name in 2018 was very well attended, and comments from breakout groups have been powerful
- Susan requested permission to form an ad hoc committee to discuss this topic
- Entire board has not taken up this question since 1985. It's time
 - Emily Bonney moved, Sten LaBianca seconded:

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board empowers Susan Ackerman to set up an ad hoc committee to discuss ASOR's name.

Approved unanimously.

25. Establishing a Board Designated Account for the James F. Strange Center (Andy Vaughn)
- Andy requests that the Board establish a Board Designated Account for the Operating, Furnishing, Upkeep, Maintenance, and Improvements of the James F. Strange Center.
 - This is in line with prudent financial practices according to the Finance Committee.
 - Emily Bonney moved, Eric Meyers seconded:

BE IT RESOLVED: The Board establishes a Board Designated Account for the James F. Strange Center. Distributions from this account may be used for Operating, Furnishing, Maintaining, and Improving the James Strange Center.

Approved unanimously.

The Board Chair recognized Sharon Herbert.

Sharon in turn recognized Susan Ackerman, ASOR president and a fantastic administrator, who always has facts written out in clear and inspirational prose. Susan always has the interest of the people of ASOR at heart, and always trying to make ASOR a good place to be. Susan is a paragon of humanity

President's Valedictory (12:20-12:30)

Susan spoke with typical grace and wit about her time as ASOR president, with kind words for various members of the organization with whom she had closely worked.

Meet adjourned 12:45

Respectfully submitted,
Ann-Marie Knoblauch

MacAllister Tribute, 10/21/2019

As an academic and Biblical scholar for whom history is always a “teachable” moment, knowing PE all these years, from the early 1980’s, has been a sheer pleasure and joy. Our mutual love of history and the Bible made us friends in the best and deepest sense. We often turned to the past to learn about ourselves and the present. And often the Bible spoke with a clarity and wisdom that reminded us of our common roots in the ancient Middle East. But we were united also in other voices of the past that we deeply respected and admired from the Classical World. Why do persons like PE and me and many others especially his friends in ASOR turn to history and archaeology for lessons? Because there are so many rich lessons to learn from.

In terms of the Old Testament? What did we learn from the two destructions of the Jerusalem Temple in 586 BC and 70 AD? That there was a creative spirit that would not take defeat on the ground to be the last word and the survivors edited and canonized the Bible as one way of dealing with the trauma, and developing private prayer as another way of dealing with it.

PE always saw that creative spirit at work in key moments of our past and would call them up to our attention to make a point about business, ethics, politics, or ASOR. History mattered and PE was a beacon for making history relevant. In times so overly focused on the present what with social media, cable news and the 24 hour news cycle, PE was always there to point out an historical precedent, and teach us something. In ASOR we often said our future lies in ruins, and for PE the mute stones of the past helped him and his archaeological fellows in ASOR [founded in 1900, and vibrant today as never before in large measure to PE's largess and vision], understand that a present shorn of its past is not one to last. PE's legacy continues to be an inspiration for all of us today who seek to better understand ourselves and our future in light of the past.

Appendix B
(Submitted by Joe Seger)

AS ASOR Board Chair P.E. MacAllister's meeting closing comments were classic renditions of literary and historical moments which he morphed into moral and procedural imperatives. Fitting then, I thought, was to remember him in at least quasi-similar style. So then ---

A Soliloquy on PE with apologies to Herman Melville*

*A paraphrase from Moby Dick, Chapter 16: The Ship - describing the ship's Owner/Captain Bildad.

“Now PE, and indeed many other Scotch Presbyterians, like Calvin, was of the frozen chosen, the family having been nestled in that sect;

And still today his ancestry in general retains in an uncommon measure the peculiarities of the Scot, only variously and anomalously modified by things altogether alien and heterogeneous.

For some of these same Presbyterians are the most sanguinary of all sales folks and entrepreneurs. They are fighting Scots, they are Presbyterians with a vengeance.

So that there are instances among them of men, who named with military intent (---a singularly common fashion among some of the sect—); and who, in childhood naturally imbibed the stately dramatic yes sir and no sir of the military idiom; ---still, from the audacious, daring, and boundless adventure of their subsequent lives, do strangely blend with these un-outgrown peculiarities, a thousand bold dashes of character, not unworthy a Scandinavian sea-king, or a poetical Pagan Roman.

And when these things unite in a man of greatly superior natural force, with a globular brain and a ponderous heart, one who has also by the stillness and seclusion of many long night-watches in the remotest waters of world history, and is at the same inspired by constellations of music and culture rarely seen or heard by most,-- been led to things untraditionally and independently; receiving all nature's sweet or savage impressions fresh from her own virgin voluntary and confiding breast, and there by chiefly, but with some help from accidental advantages, has learned a bold and nervous lofty demeanor --- that man makes but ONE in a whole nation's census--- a mighty pageant creature, formed for long life and noble tragedies.”

To wit – Our PE! For so long ASOR’s dinger! Its North Star -- guiding its ship, responding to its needs, --- and all this while navigating some dozens – may haps even hundreds—of business, social, and cultural currents! We have been truly blessed to have had for so long his good attentions.

May we strive to do honor to the rich heritage of wisdom, service, and support that abides in his wake. Rest in Peace our dear friend!

Memorial remembrance of P.E. MacAllister, 50 plus years Trustee and Chairman Emeritus of the American Schools of Oriental Research, who passed away at 101 years young on October 23, 2019. Offered at the ASOR Annual Meeting in San Diego, CA, November 24, 2019 by Joe D. Seger.
